

Small days, big stories

A wholly invented sample book

A book begins with a little looking.

A garden. A bicycle. A balloon going nowhere in particular.

These illustrations and words were made for this example. Try a caption, add a note, and make this copy your own.

Up, up, and a little farther

The balloon takes the scenic route. The fox approves.

A day in the garden

A little growing, a little going, and a place to rest.

Small things worth keeping

Six scenes, a few good words, and room for the next story.
